

IMUNE International Licence Quantum Biofeedback- Unconscious

There are two aspects to Biofeedback

- Conscious Biofeedback- the classical conscious mind conditioning route.
- Unconscious (advanced technology) Biofeedback- which is the primary foundation of the EPPX/SCIO/QXCI.

Both have a place- Unconscious Biofeedback is the current state of the art biofeedback, understanding of which is directly relevant to EPPX application.

The IMUNE Unconscious Biofeedback Syllabus, education support materials and on line exam is designed to clarify these differences and provide an understanding of advanced technology unconscious biofeedback as directly relevant to the EPPX.

IMUNE International License Biofeedback

There are 3 options

1. Upgrade- if you hold an existing BCIA or NBCB or equivalent Conventional biofeedback qualification the by study of the syllabus items and support materials you can apply for the on line technical examination to upgrade. The exam takes around 30 minutes.
2. Complete- Conscious & Unconscious- students benefit from taking a course in at least the conscious element available from a number of providers and the take the conscious and unconscious IMUNE on line exams (60-90 minutes).
3. IMUNE Integrated Biofeedback- this is a course under development to provide better balance and relevance to both current biofeedback and specifically the EPPX related element. There will be a substantial reduction in the conventional biofeedback element. This will not be available before end of November

Examination & License	Fee
	1 year	3 year
(prices do not include courses)
Biofeedback License- complete	$100/ €85 /£55	$150/ €120 /£80
Upgrade NBCB to Imune Biofeedback (3)	$65/ €55 /£35	$95/ €80 /£50

Syllabus

<http://imune.net/index/pdf/IMUNE%20Biofeedback%20101%20Syllabus.pdf>

provides the complete syllabus, including the Unconscious element.

Applications

Down load from <http://imune.net/index/downloads.html#sqbl>

An Historical Perspective

Historically conventional biofeedback is very low key in Europe- European trainers and students have correctly questioned why it is in the IMUNE syllabus. It is in the process of being removed as a requirement with only an historical perspective for reference being included. The Unconscious Biofeedback will become the only mandatory part in the Quantum Biofeedback Qualifications.

My understanding in America is that around 5 years ago (as a very sound strategy for some professional self regulation) some lights in the EPFX world linked with and helped develop a then small certification board to give some credibility to EPFX practitioners. Taking an existing vehicle is a great strategy and I commend what has been done for the EPFX community. However it is a foundation that has not adapted to reflect the technological basis of current tools.

As an expedient (which will be developed further) IMUNE has (with help):

- Established a syllabus that fills in the relevant missing bits
- Provided a resource schedule to identify relevant information
- Made available an Energetic Medicine DVD that helps an understanding of the homeopathic shape and wave form basis of the EPFX (available on line order <http://shop.imune.net/cgi-bin/imune/commerce.cgi>)
- Compiled downloadable support materials
<http://imune.net/index/downloads.html#b101>
- Established an on line exam for both conscious and unconscious biofeedback.

Current course providers are upgrading their offerings to include the unconscious element- IQBNM has upgraded it's on line classes.

Technical Perspective

Technically conventional biofeedback is limited- an analogy is the use of Newtonian Physics as a universal physics, whereas in reality the Newtonian Model has an application in a limited area. Quantum Physics (and perhaps soon field theory) very, very considerably extends both our understanding and our tool kit.

IMUNE is set up to support all Natural Health approaches. If someone wants to work with classical biofeedback that is fine- but let's recognise it for exactly what it is and if it does not form the basis for our approach or tools lets use more appropriate education.

99.999999999% + of processes in an organism work unconsciously- that is one reason why this approach is often more effective than conventional biofeedback "training". Indeed it may be somewhat inappropriate to think that using the conscious mind can be really effective in making changes to deep seated patterns. Smart parents tune in to the same wavelength as their babies- smart healers tune into the wavelengths of their clients- using non conscious skills. This is evident in many modalities- including those that appear to have a physical manipulative basis such as naturopathic general body adjustment, crania-sacral work etc.

The EPFX/SCIO/QXCI is based on Advanced/unconscious biofeedback- and involves at its heart Quantum Physics.

It has a little classical biofeedback

BUT

The vast proportion of its operation is Advanced/unconscious biofeedback and that is why the stress reduction facilities are vastly more in-depth and so much faster, deeper and effective than trying to get the conscious mind to control the trillions of subtle processes that operate every second.

The IMUNE Quantum Biofeedback Process

In respect of the EPFX there is a progressive approach through 3 stages:

1. Concept foundation- Unconscious Biofeedback
2. Quantum Biofeedback practitioner- to establish general competence in Quantum Biofeedback. Practitioner is seen as the minimum safe level of competence for basic biofeedback practise.
3. Quantum Biofeedback Therapist recognises a deeper level of competence and is the preferred minimum for effective practise, enabling deeper use and integration into clinical practise of Quantum Biofeedback.